KLEINE FEATURE IS FULL OF THRILLS

Anybody who asks for more excitement or thrills than are to be found in George Kleine's latest photo drama success, "Between Savage and Tiger" is unquestionably a menace to society and needs restraint. There are enough situations in this wonderful story of the jungles of India to supply climaxes and plots for half a dozen stage plays. Although some of the best players of the Cines company are in the cast, the real stars are man-eating tigers, elephants, water-buffalo, antelope, horses and savage tribesmen. No one who ever sees this picture leaves their seat until the last curtain and many stay to see it repeated. "Between Savage and Tiger" is arranged in six parts. It was seen for the first time in Phoenix at the Lamara yesterday.

AMUSEMENTS

The Avenue
With two subjects that will prove a big attraction for the children as well as for the grown ups, the attendance should set new records for Saturday business.
"The Bulwark of Angkor" is purely a scenic subject of these famed ruins and comes in the class of educational films.

"Andy, the Hypnotist," features the widely known child actor, Andy Clark of Edison fame.
"The Refrigerator Car's Captive" is a stirring tale of the fruit industry of southern California. The early scenes show how this business is carried on. After ruining the business of his rival, the villain imprisons him in a refrigerator car and allows the same to run wild down the mountain. After a thrilling chase, the car is caught and the prisoner released.

Lion Theater
There are few pictures that are more interesting than "For the Wearing of the Green" which is shown at the Lion today. Its a story of the struggle of the Irish patriots against the English and the costumes scenery, etc., are typical of the days of Ulster troubles. The Domino company is famous for unusual productions and they are all historically correct in detail. "A Child of the Desert" is another strong drama in today's program and is a story of rough, but human hearts. It is well acted, is interesting and the photography splendid. "Between Showers" is the title of the Keystone comedy offering and as usual it is funny from beginning to end. Tomorrow, the Lion has a one-day program in which "The Cat's Paw" is the headliner. Don't miss it, for it's an unusually strong drama.

Bernard's Merry-makers

makers scored again at the Empress last evening in the second evening's entertainment furnished by that organization. The singing and dancing as well as the comedy by the principals, was as full of laughs as it could be. The show demonstrated again that it is clean, the jokes being sprung for the purpose of a laugh only. The company will continue the present bill for the balance of the week. It drew well last night, and will, it is expected, keep up the record for the remainder of the run. The name, "At Saratoga," only indicates that it is a summer "idyl" well chosen, considering the time of year.

Housh and LaVelle
An unusual act, which is really what is generally known as the best vaudeville, is the act of Housh and LaVelle at the Coliseum this week. It is a little sketch involving a quarrel between a man and his wife which needs the height of acting upon the part of the principals to carry it off in good shape. That it is carried off in just that shape can readily be told each evening by the applause following the quick curtain at the close of the act. During the performance Jack Housh sings "We Never Miss the Sunshine Until the Shadows Fall," in splendid voice. Miss LaVelle is a tall and striking brunette with evidence of great histrionic talent. The other acts on the bill, there are three of them, and the pictures, are all good.

interpreted as threatening. The war department was permitted at that time to prevent shipments from going across the international line, but no further steps were taken. Three of the mediators announced through the state department that the Lobos Island incident has been closed. They informed Huerta that the Mexicans were free to return to the Lobos Island light house whenever they chose, provided they maintained it for the world's navigation. On the whole, President Wilson and his cabinet took a more hopeful view of the Mexican situation than they had in weeks. They are confident that mediation will accomplish something toward a pacific settlement of the Mexican problem.

Villa Out of Range
TORREON, May 15.—Not even a telegraph wire has been able to keep track of Villa's movements, according to reports reaching here. Up and down the railroad from Paredon, and Hippolito, to Torreon, Villa rushes, urging forward the jolting troop trains, seeing that provisions are properly distributed and looking to the comforts of his precious horses.

In expectation of the operations in the desert country, a water train of tank cars has been provided.

The repairing of the railroad is going forward rapidly but it is said here that General Villa will not wait for it, but will press his troops onward in advance of the construction crews.

Little seems to be known among the rank and file of Villa's army concerning the disposition of the federal forces at Saltillo. Generals Joaquin, Maas and Demoure are known to be in the city and it is said that part of Argumedo's force which escaped from Torreon at the time that the city was captured, are among the federal garrison, although Argumedo himself is reported to be in Mexico City.

The federals are believed to be occupying several outlying positions and it is said they hope to check the constitutionalist advance at those points, among which are La Mariposa, Santa Maria and Los Bosques on the east and north, Tapapa, San Jose on the west and Gomez Farias on the south.

soon as the advance guard of constitutionalists came in sight. The capture of Monclova, it is believed, will permit the opening of through communication between the Mexican border and Monterey.

Word filtered to the border through foreign refugees that one of the objects of the visit of Venustiano Carranza to Durango, had not been attained. Carranza, it is said, hoped to smooth over the difficulties between the Arrietas brothers and Villa. The Arrietas have four or five thousand men. They refused to report before Torreon on Villa's order and Villa ordered them arrested. Later the Arrietas gave Carranza a cordial welcome and pledged allegiance to the constitutionalists cause but refused to report before Saltillo.

At the time of the siege of Torreon, they nominally paid allegiance to Carranza and Villa and called themselves constitutionalists. No effort was made to enforce Villa's order on the brother generals in their Durango strongholds. When they heard of the order of arrest it is said the Arrietas threatened to join Huerta, but this they later denied and reported they agreed to join the constitutionalists cause if the order of arrest was revoked. It is alleged, however, they told Carranza they would not lead their troops out of Durango.

Refugees assert that it may become necessary for a part of Villa's army to march to Durango to assert the authority of the constitutionalists chiefs over the Durango generals and to restore order which it is said has been indifferently enforced throughout Durango for many months.

THIS NOT A GRASSHOPPER YEAR

Spring cultivation of alfalfa fields is a great help in controlling grasshoppers, according to G. E. Thompson, superintendent of the Kansas experiment sub-stations. The grasshopper eggs are in this way exposed to weather conditions and to the birds. Mr. Thompson says, however, that there is little prospect of grasshoppers being troublesome in Kansas this summer. Only a few healthy eggs have been found while many are parasitized.

Spring cultivation of alfalfa is as a rule very beneficial. Mr. Thompson believes. This cultivation can be done with a disk or an alfalfa cultivator. The type of cultivator having narrow shovels is the best. Under all conditions such a cultivator is preferable to the disk, though the latter will do fair work. The theory that disking thickens the stand of alfalfa used to be advanced. The disk may thicken a thin stand, but it also does some temporary damage by cutting stems and roots. In time of drought this is a handicap, because the plants cannot so well withstand severe climatic conditions. The disk also leaves the surface too fine and smooth for such a dry, windy region as the western part of Kansas—Kansas Industrialist.
